“Relay talk of former high school student Peace Ambassadors”!

On Sunday, October 29th, at the Nagasaki Atomic Bomb Museum lecture hall, the Nagasaki Doctor and Dentist association held a lecture meeting called “Relay talk of former high school student Peace Ambassadors”. In front of about 70 attendees, she reported about visiting the United Nations Office in Geneva, Switzerland this past August. Three people including Takamari Honda of the Nagasaki Doctor and Dentist Association and the former high school student’s peace ambassadors including Miss Mizoguchi had a free discussion. They spoke about the treaty to prohibit nuclear weapons. The following is a comment from Miss Mizoguchi,

“Through this event, I could feel the importance of continuing peace activities. I learned about a former peace ambassador of more than ten years ago is still now working energetically on promoting peace. This inspired me greatly to keep doing activities and working toward achieving peace.”

English training through Skype & preparation for Model United Nations during school trip!

Now in Current Events English class, 2nd grade students in the international department are being trained in English through Skype by Mr. Mike Barcomb, a researcher at the State University of New York. The students talk about delegated countries of Model United Nations and project studies of GS II class, on which they receive helpful feedback. Though feeling nervous, the students are actively communicating in English.

The Model United Nations is carried out during the school trip starting on Wednesday, November 22nd. The students are eagerly preparing for it in the Current Events English class. In the Model United Nations event this time, students, in groups of two or three, are delegated one out of ten countries to represent. Then on the day of the event they will follow all the steps in English. They need a deep knowledge of the country which they represent and English skills when they express about it, which require elaborate preparation. It is hoped that this experience will be of great success as the students cooperate with each other.
