

English Cafe at English Room

On the afternoon of Friday July 8th, Nagasaki Higashi SHS English Club was cordially invited to attend an event at the English Support Room located at Nagasaki University- Faculty of Economics. This being the second time this school year for such a function. The English Club members were joined by a number of foreign exchange students from China and Korea in addition to Japanese university students totaling to 26 attendees.

The theme of the event was "Stereotypes". The idea was to think over and converse about images, types and impressions of certain factions of people around the world. Desi Tom sensei conducted the discussion by asking students to compile a list of key words that typically stereotype people of different age groups in society and nationalities of various countries. They actively worked together to produce a list of their thoughts and then shared them on a whiteboard. The closing portion were some comments by two foreign exchange students in attendance. All in all, the entire event was a successful and fun cooperation by everyone involved.

Nice to Meet You !

Hi, my name is Rachel Yoko Lewis and I'm 15 years old. I grew up in Idaho, but moved to Hawaii for three years. I learned a lot about Hawaiian Culture while I was there, but I always wanted to live in Japan because my mother is Japanese. I love Japanese culture and want to learn the language!
